From Research to Revenue

Knowledge products, created from solid survey research, offer associations new sources of revenue and market leadership.

• They are a proven revenue generator

• Position an association as the premier source of business information
Revenue Opportunities

1. High value reports that can be provided to members/sold to non-members

2. Single/multiple sponsor/advertiser opportunities
Sponsor Supported Research - Benefits

- Provides a platform for the sponsor to provide thought leadership, engage with the industry/profession and create good will that will transfer into business opportunities.

- Gives an association the opportunity to approach a sponsor with a unique opportunity.

- Sponsors can shape the research and ask their own set of proprietary questions.

- Sponsors will receive multiple exposures across platforms e.g. roundtable, print, online, article reprints, conferences.
Types of Surveys

1. Market surveys
2. Industry outlook
3. Benchmarking and best practices
4. Compensation and benefits
5. Brand awareness and perceptions
1. Market Snapshot Surveys – Current conditions

Market Surveys:

• Topics typically relate to current conditions within a given market or industry e.g. employment issues, profits, productivity, challenges and opportunities

• Findings are promoted in the association publication/roundtable discussions/conference presentations

Revenue Opportunities:

• One or more sponsors
1. Recent Market Surveys
2. Industry Outlook

Industry Outlook:
1. Outlook for your business in the upcoming year
2. Revenue expectations
3. Key challenges / constraints to growth
4. Biggest areas of opportunity
5. Growth strategies
   • Findings are promoted in the association publication, in roundtable discussions/ conference presentations

Revenue Opportunities:
• One or more sponsors
2. Recent Industry Outlook Surveys
3. Benchmarking and Best Practices

Special Reports - Benchmarking/Best Practices:

• Report buyers can compare their performance with other similar operations

• Typically the overall findings are promoted by the association
  – Members can go online to order a custom report that will allow them to make specific comparisons e.g. size of operation or region

Revenue Opportunities:

• Members/non-members and sponsors

• Reports made available to sponsor(s)

Revenue Opportunities:
• Individual or multiple sponsors
4. Recent Brand Awareness and Perceptions
In Conclusion...

Research–based “knowledge products” deliver valuable, proprietary information that can be customized to the needs of specific industries.

These knowledge products typically fall into two categories:

• High value reports e.g. benchmarking/best practices research that can be offered/sold to members/non-members.

• Research-based studies that can be turned into content across multiple platforms e.g. roundtable, print, online, article reprints, conferences generating advertising and sponsorship dollars
